TODAY ENDS CAMPAIGN; TOMORROW ELECTION DAY

Presence of Many Tickets Complicates Matters Generally

LOOK FOR HEAVY VOTE

Believed That Charleroi Electors Will Turn Out In Masse—Meeting Tonight

Tomorrow is election day. Today will witness the wind-up of one of the hottest campaigns that has been waged for years in the state of Pennsylvania. The fact that a United States senator, together with the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs, four congressmen-at-large, a district congressman, a state senator and three assemblymen are to be elected as well as a judge of the supreme court and a judge of the superior court has lent an interest that is unprecedented. The presence of strong tickets in the field has complicated matters.

In Charleroi there will be an important question submitted in the issue, whether there shall be an increase in the borough indebtedness of $75,000 for municipal improvements.

There are ten tickets on the official ballot and the non-partisan judicial ticket. The Democratic ticket is given first place, with the Washington next and Republican third.

Issues have been closely drawn, and results seem to be in doubt, victory being prematurely claimed by various parties. That there will be a big vote seems certain. In Charleroi there will be a heavy Republican vote polled, according to indications, but there will be much splitting of tickets.

A final meeting of Republican adherents will be held tonight at the Bank of Charleroi building at which time plans for waging a hot fight at the polls tomorrow will be laid.

One case has developed in the family of John Kopp at 914 Meadow avenue. The two afflicted persons in the family of George Ornato on Crest avenue are said to be getting along nicely.

Two new cases of scarlet fever have developed in the home of Peter Bertram at 300 Third street. They are not thought to be serious. The other scarlet fever cases are improving.

BORROWED AUTO IS WRECKED

IS FOUND ON SIXTH

Dr. E. H. Garbich left his automobile standing in front of his office on McKean avenue Sunday morning early, preparatory to leaving for Washington. When he returned to the street, he found his car gone. A short time later news reached him that the car had been wrecked at the head of Sixth street by two men, and that they had then left.

Chief of Police C. W. Albright was notified. Late Sunday afternoon a telephone message reached Dr. Garbich from one of the two men accused of taking the machine. The man is said to have acknowledged his guilt and to have laid the blame on liquor. He asked that a settlement for the damage done be agreed to.

The car was practically put out of commission. The engine was damaged and other parts of the machinery were put out of commission.

LOCK NO. 4 REPORT SHOWS BETTERMENT OF COAL BUSINESS

The coal shipments for the month of October through Lock No. 4 were larger than they have been for many months. They did not, however, come up to the record made in October, 1913. October was the biggest month of 1913, with shipments of 19,933,000 bushels.

Shipments through Lock No. 4 for October of this year totaled 15,591,000 bushels. The shipments for September of this year were 14,739,000 bushels.

The following is the record for the upstream traffic through Lock No. 4 for the month: Lockages 578, steamboats 282, empty crafts 1,273, other crafts 41, coal 3,000 bushels, iron products 25 tons, sand 44,000 bushels, gravel 137,000 bushels, stone 200 cubic yards, timber 3,000 cubic feet, lumber 29,000 feet, posts 150 feet, cement 550 tons, passengers 26.

The rain fall for October was 2.42 inches. This was some better than September when only 1.23 inches fell. The first snow of the season was Tuesday October 27, when it snowed a greater part of the day. The snow melted as it fell.

TEMPERANCE WORKERS HOLD COUNTY RALLIES

Temperance Sunday was observed throughout Washington county Sunday and temperance rallies were conducted at numerous points. Churches during the day gave much attention to the subject.

A rally was held at the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, Charleroi by a union of the churches. Prof. J. Wilbur Kay, of Washington and Jefferson college and Congressman Henry W. Temple made addresses. Dr. C. C. Wright was chairman. One feature was singing by the children of a prohibition song. Rev. J. R. Burson conducted devotions, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. T. Hackett.

COLORED VOTERS ARE FIRM REPUBLICANS

The best attended political meeting ever held by colored voters of Charleroi and vicinity was held by the Negro Brotherhood Association in Mountser's hall in Friday evening. D. F. Ferguson, the president of the meeting stated that the object was to straighten out the ranks and turn out a unanimous vote for the Republican ticket. Addresses were made by Solomon Jones, Rev. John Smith, Joseph Jones, W. C. Smith and Mr. Emerson. H. W. Thomas in his address stated that the Republican party is by far the best friend the negro has and urged that all members of the race turn out and do what they could for the party. H. H. Rideout and J. Young made the concluding speeches and all left the hall with a determination to do all they can to revive prosperity in the country.

REMEMBERED BY FRIENDS ON HIS 57TH BIRTHDAY

In honor of his fifty-seventh birthday John O'Conner was tendered a surprise Sunday evening at his home at 209 Prospect avenue by about 30 of his out of town friends. The affair was arranged by William Kerns of California, and the guest list included a number of Mr. O'Conner's nieces and nephews. The Imperial orchestra of California, headed by Mr. Kerns rendered several selections. One of the chief surprises of the evening was that of the presentation to Mr. O'Conner of a fine ring. Mrs. Anna Kerns made the presentation speech, which was responded to by Mr. O'Conner. Supper was served.

WAYNESBURG TEAM DEFEATED BY THE SCORE OF 40 TO 0

The Waynesburg College football team was soundly defeated by the Monessen All Stars Saturday afternoon at Monessen by the score of 40 to 0. The reason for the defeat was overweight. All the Charleroi men in the game for Waynesburg played good football. This included Riggs, Lowstutter and Jacobs. Usher, of Fayette City, was a strong player. Carroll, one of the backfield stars, owing to a bad ankle was unable to make his presence in the game much felt, and this had a deteriorating effect on the whole team.

Parade on Saturday Evening is Big Event Locally

PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Numerous Fantastic Costumes to be Seen—Represented All Classes

Hallowe'en was observed in a sane and sane manner Saturday evening when a fantastic parade was a feature. Hundreds of maskers were the street from early in the evening until late at night, and there was complete representation of all class and all ages in the variety of costumes displayed.

The parade was led by the Veteran Guard Drum corps of Charleroi. The Charleroi Italian band was also toward the head of the line. Other musical bands were in line.

Judges were W. D. Pollock, H. Wilson and D. R. Hornell. The prize of $5 for the best dressed man was divided between Palmer Ashton of the Mail and John Silbaugh. Ashton wore a Colonial costume, a Silbaugh was dressed as a prince. For the most comically attired man the prize of an umbrella was awarded to Murph Byers of Monongahela who was attired as an Irish hod carrier.

The prize of $5 for the finest dressed lady went to Mrs. Constans. Florence Hough won the prize of a hat, the most comically attired girl. Da Swick won the prize of a football, the most comically attired boy. Judging was made difficult because of the numerous costumes and variety of ideas. Two organizations attracted much attention. One was the of the Hilltop band. A group attired in old time Roman costumes, driving horses was much noticed.

THE TEST OF CITIZENSHIP

Tomorrow, throughout the length and breadth of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the electors will be given an opportunity to pass referendum as to how the affairs of the state shall be conducted, as well as how they shall be represented in the United States congress. Tomorrow will be applied the supreme test of citizenship—the time when each individual voter will express his true sentiments in his attitude toward the welfare of neighbors as well as himself. The elector who neglects or shirks his duties of citizenship is not only a contributing factor to the great force of social evils that are always to be found menacing the country, but he is also violating the direct mandates of Christianity. The stay-at-home voter is neither a good citizen nor a Christian when his lack of action belies his profession.

After all is said and done, we, as a people are directly responsible for all the social and civic evils that afflict society. We get just exactly the part of government we want—just as good as we deserve. It has been truly remarked that no community is better than the people who compose it, and this is everywhere manifested by the indifference to the social evils that prevail. We profess to be shocked at disclosures of illegal traffic, but make only puny efforts to improve conditions. At times we are agitated at the prevalence of crime, but our scheme of civilized government makes comparatively little provision to abate the influences that prevail in every community. We condemn when we are to blame. The person who stands by and consents to evil will suffer retribution more surely than the active participants. There it is a sacred duty for every voter to cast his ballot tomorrow; to vote according to the dictates of his own conscience. The instincts of the people are for the right, and when all take an interest in the conduct of public affairs there is nothing to fear.

THE FIRST STEP

The dark-lantern methods of the Democratic reforms and their bull-moose leader, one "Bill" Flinn, the notorious Pittsburg contractor, who is now in the employ of New York's Tammany Hall Democracy, will be repudiated at the polls on Tuesday, November 3. The mixture of the Democratic reorganizers with the would-be reorganizers of the Republican party is obnoxious to all fair minded men of either party in this great state. The bickerings, deals, trades and whatnot, is fairly nauseating; the voters rebel at such actions on the part of those who could lead.

The Dauphin county court rules that such methods as employed by the Democratic state committee in placing names on their ticket is without the confines of the election laws. In all probability this matter will come up for a settlement in the courts of the state and settle once and for all the methods of these and other would-be-reformers.

From every section of the state come reports of the great strength of Senator Eolus Penrose and Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh. These two great leaders and their fellow candidates on the Republican ticket will receive a high encomium next Tuesday at the hands of the voters of this great Commonwealth. Closed factories does not appeal to the workingmen. Prosperity means a full dinner pail and the hum of machinery means prosperity, peace and happiness to all. Incompetency on the part of the Democratic administration has closed down manufacturing plants all over this state within the last few months. No one knows better than the workman who can and will start those closed factories in operation. By electing a Republican United States senator, a Republican Governor, Republican congressmen with their fellow candidates next Tuesday day will be one of the first steps in replacing again in operation the wheels of progress in this state. These men will have much to do in the shaping of the affairs of the ship of state for the next several years. They will be on guard to defend the country from the incompetent methods employed by the present administration.

GARY ON DEPRESSION

"There is nothing to be gained by closing our eyes to well known and clearly recognized facts and at present we are not very prosperous in our lines." This is the statement of Judge E. H. Gary, of the Steel Corporation, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, in his address to that body at Birmingham, Ala., says the Uniontown Herald. Birmingham is the home of Congressman Underwood, joint author with A. Mitchell Palmer of the low tariff bill which has wrecked such havoc in industrial sections of the country. Judge Gary has been widely quoted by the Democratic press when he has uttered optimistic speeches on the business outlook. He is one of the most hopeful men connected with industrial affairs in the country. His present pessimism is because there is no ray of light upon which a sunburst of prosperity can be constructed.

Continuing he says: "There is reflection in the published reports of some of the larger companies. The president of one declares that earnings from January 1 to October 1, 1914, on the tonnage produced have been at the smallest margin of profit since the formation of the company." The report of another company shows that the income from manufacturing and operating, after deducting all incidental expenses, is less than one-seventh as much for the first nine months of 1914 as it was for the same period of 1913. Still another sets forth that for the first six months of 1914, the net earnings from operations were less than one-half of the amount realized for the same period for 1913. For the company last referred to I have no report since June 30, 1914. I do not refer to the results of the Steel Corporation, nor to those of any other company, because those of the former are extensively advertised from time to time and are well known; and the reports of the others are not published at all, so far as I have been able to ascertain. It is sufficient to say at this time that the volume and prices of iron and steel sold in this country were very low, comparatively speaking during the months immediately prior to the commencement of the European war, and with respect of the volume, there have been substantial decreases since that time. These facts are well known to all of you, and I would be doing an injustice if I were to assume that any of you were unfamiliar with them."

PICKED UP IN PASSING

An editor up in the northeastern part of the state is in bad on account of the write-up of a wedding. The bridegroom was named Gunn and his father Abraham Gunn. The girl's name was Smith. The editor turned in the copy to the office boy the last thing before going to press, then hurried to the train to be gone two days. When the paper was printed the article was headed "Gunn-Smith," and went on to say that the bride was arrayed in a dress of "white mull" instead of "white mull," and she carried a large "nose." The editor wrote that the groom was a well liked son of A. Gunn, and the boy set it up. "The groom was a wall-eyed son of a gun." The editor has never been able to square it with the Gunns and Smiths and all of them quit taking the paper.

A canvasser stepped briskly up to a certain man's desk and laid a small article close to his right hand. "I have here a new letter opener," he said. "A handsome article to be kept on the table of your library, and—"

"Pardon me," interrupted the man without turning his head, "but I have already the best letter opener and the quickest."

"How long have you had it?" persisted the canvasser. "You know there are constant improvements always being introduced."

"Mine couldn't be improved," responded the man. "I've had her for about two years now—anniversary of the wedding next month."

"Not long ago," said a lawyer, "I attended a trial during the course of which a youthful physician was summoned as a witness."

"It was natural of course, that counsel for the other side should in cross-examination, seize the occasion to make certain sarcastic remarks touching the knowledge and skill of so young a doctor. 'Are you' questioned the counsel familiar with the symptoms of concussion of the brain?'"

"Yes, sir."

"Then," continued the lawyer, "I should like to ask your opinion of a hypothetical case. Were my learned friend, Mr. Reed and myself to bang our heads together, should we get concussion of the brain?"

"Mr. Reed might," was the disconcerting reply."

GREAT VICTORY NOW ASSURED

Entire Republican State Ticket
Will Be Elected.

BIG MAJORITY IN SIGHT

Republican State Chairman Crow Predicts Overwhelming Triumph For G. O. P. at the Election Next Tuesday and Explain the Reason.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—Nothing remains but the counting of the Republican majority. The entire Republican state ticket will sweep Pennsylvania next Tuesday in an overwhelming fashion. From every section of the state comes gratifying reports of the strong tide that has set in for the G. O. P., and it would not be surprising if the enemy is overwhelmed by a vote of from 150,000 to 200,000 votes. Counties that have not gone Republican for ten or twelve years will next week register a repudiation of the Democrats and what is left of the Washington party. The great army of Pennsylvania voters have reached the conclusion that there is only one party that stands for protection to our industries and prosperity for all the people.

SENATOR WILLIAM E. CROW.
Chairman of the Republican State Committee.

"I would not be surprised," said Republican State Chairman William E. Crow today, "if as many as 150,000 Democrats would vote the straight Republican ticket. They are not only discouraged at the result of Democratic blundering at Washington, but disgusted with the Palmer-McCormick leadership in Pennsylvania—a leadership of selfishness and hypocrisy."

Continuing Senator Crow said: "This Democratic disaffection is not confined to any particular spot. It is of a general nature. Following the primary election, when the Palmer-McCormick crowd succeeded in defeating Ryan by the use of every low and despicable trick known in politics no effort was made to try and placate the large following of the Philadelphia attorney. Instead they were not only ignored, but insulted and given to understand that they were not wanted. As a result thousands of heretofore stalwart Democrats make no attempt to conceal the fact that they favor the Republican ticket and will vote it straight."

Back-to-Party Movement.

"The back-to-the-party movement among Republicans has been on since primary day. Men who years ago espoused the candidacy of Roosevelt and other Washington candidates will vote the Republican ticket next week. The reason is not hard to understand. These electors have discovered that Pennsylvania must stand for Republican principles if its mills and factories are to continue in operation. The total loss to American industry for the year ending June 30 last, traceable to the Underwood tariff law was $182,416,540, and the loss for the single month of June was $22,312,581. This was, of course, before the European war, which the Democrats are now trying to hold responsible for the present hard times. Nothing from the Democratic press bureau or the White House can change or successfully contradict these facts—facts which spell disaster unless a change is made. The Republicans have conducted a dignified campaign and did not stoop to the level of the Democrats or the Washington party men. If we had decided to enter upon a campaign of personalities we had an amount of ammunition to use from the day of the primary. But it was not necessary, first, because the dinner pail issue is more important and, secondly, because the people are familiar with the personnel of the enemy."

Hypocrisy of Palmer & Co.

The hypocrisy of Palmer and McCormick in trying to gain the support of workmen has not fooled the latter for intelligent workmen who tell know that Palmer has always been their bitter enemy and even accepted a fee to go to Harrisburg in 1907 and oppose their labor bills. As for McCormick, his hostility to the labor element has shown itself on scores of occasions. How he vetoed a bill, while mayor of Harrisburg, to increase the salary of day laborers 15 cents a day; his tearing the union label off his newspaper and the many editorial expressions in his person organ against the laborer are known to the people, and his race pretensions of friendship have no made him any wiser among the masses of intelligent workmen. "I look for a big Republican victory next Tuesday, one that will emphasize the fact that Pennsylvania stands for the principles of protection and prosperity. Not only will the entire state ticket win, but the Republicans will gain a number of congressional districts that we have lost two years ago."

"With My Chum" Week.
Next Sunday there will begin a series of meetings in the Bentleyville M. E. church known as "With My Chum" week. The principal idea of the week is to increase the number of Christians in Bentleyville by the simple manner of each and every Methodist with an unconverted chum endeavoring to effect his conversion.

Bentleyville Defeated.
Saturday Bentleyville and the Beallsville Collegians football teams met in a clash on the Bentleyville field. The game was long and hard fought resulting in victory to the Beallsville forces. The score read 6 to 0. Bentleyville claims that the defeat was made possible by the absence of some of its best players, unpracticed players being substituted in their stead. As a whole Beallsville had a team made up of heavier and more experienced players.

Hunters Revel.
Nimrods in Bentleyville are very numerous. The first day of "rabbit season" found a great many hunters from this little town heading into the surrounding forests. The great numbers of hunting licenses taken by the townsmen manifest a regular sporting spirit.

Practical Joke.
Some one with a sense of humor painted "Bar" in large letters across the windows of the room occupied by the high school. This, notwithstanding some slight damage to sidewalks marks the same manner in which Bentleyville observed Halloween.

Better Babies.

The crusade for better babies, has spread from coast to coast, and taken firm hold of American Mothers. Few women realize how much the ill health of the mother influences the unborn child both physically and mentally. Women who suffer from mysterious pains, backache, nervousness, mental depression, headaches, etc., should rely on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, which for nearly forty years has been the standard remedy for these ailments.

HIGH SCHOOL PREPARED FOR BASKETBALL

W. L. Lorimer, coach and manager of the Charleroi high school basketball team is formulating his schedule for the coming season and arranging the preliminaries incidental to beginning practice immediately upon the close of the high school football season.

It is probable that the Vandergrift high school team will play the first game on the local floor. The Pittsburgh Central high school has been booked for a game and Shadyside Academy is included in the schedule. There will be an exchange of games with Bellefonte Academy. An effort is being made to get Greensburg high school booked for a game and others scheduled for the season are Waynesburg high, Coraopolis high, Claysville high, Monessen high and two games with the Monongahela high school.

The makeup of the team will be in doubt, but it is believed that Speers and Lowstuter of last year's five will be on the guards, and that Ryland, a substitute center with the champion 1915 five will be at center. The season will begin about the first of the year.

BIG GAME WITH MONESSEN MAY BE SCHEDULED

Arrangements are being made to get the Monessen All Stars and the Charleroi Independent football teams together for a championship game the first Saturday after Thanksgiving. The Charleroi team is now being made up. No plans have been outlined for the game, but it will be for the entire gate receipts if played.

A football season without a championship game between Monessen and Charleroi would be like Thanksgiving without turkey. A game is played annually and stars known far and wide are always in both line-ups. The Monessen All Stars have been winning regularly and consistently and on Saturday won from the Waynesburg college team.

VARIED LENGTH OF INFANCY

Period of Helplessness Seems to Coincide with the Size of the Animal.

It is often remarked that the infancy of human beings today is longer than it formerly was. This seems to be inevitable, owing to the higher state of society. In a general way the more highly developed an animal is the longer an apprenticeship it will have to serve before it is ready to cut loose from parental and other restraints and shift for itself.

Two interesting books have recently been brought out, which treat of this matter in infancy as applied to the various animals. The period of infancy varies very widely. Mice have practically no infancy, but at six weeks are parents of more mice. Human beings are helpless at birth and for years after. The horse is "grown up" at three years, while the elephant requires seven or eight times that length of time to develop fully. Thus the elephant is just entering upon life when the horse is ready to die of old age.

In a general way, says the Pathfinder, the length of infancy tends to run parallel with the relative bulk of the animal—the larger animals requiring more time to grow and develop their full vigor. In some cases lower animals attain maturity only by a succession of curious stages. The shell of a crab when once hardened cannot grow and the crab is forced to molt or cast off his outgrown shell from time to time and grow a new one a little larger.

A crab when growing this new shell is known as soft shell or "soft" crab, and at such times he is, of course, especially subject to attack from his enemies, as the shell, which is the natural armor, is wanting. In museums there are exhibits of as many as fourteen castoff shells of a single crab, beginning with a very tiny one and each one just a size larger than the last.

Shellfish have their skeletons outside them in the form of their shells instead of inside them. But what a waste of material is involved in a system which requires them to manufacture a new skeleton every new moon or at other short intervals. Only to be thrown away as soon as it is finished.

The state of development of animals when born depends a great deal on the conditions that are to surround them during infancy. Young rabbits, which are born in an underground burrow, are blind, naked and helpless at birth; the young hare, which is own cousin to the rabbit, is born with its eyes open and covered with fur, and this because it is born above ground, where it is exposed both to the inclemency of the weather and predatory foes. Thus in a measure each is suited to its surroundings.

SETBACK FOR THE OPTIMIST

According to Pessimist, He Had Failed Utterly to See Things in Their Proper Light.

"Look at this, will you?" exclaimed the cheerful real estate man "In this paper there is a record of eighty-seven marriage licenses issued yesterday."

"Well, what of it?" said his partner, the pessimist of the firm.

"What of it?" echoed the other.

"Can't you see? Those eighty-seven marriage licenses mean eighty-seven marriages. The eighty-seven marriages will lead to eighty-seven inquiries for houses, flats, or at least eligible apartments. It's bound to stimulate business in our line and we'll get our share."

"That doesn't follow at all. Those eighty-seven licenses represent 174 persons, don't they?"

"Yes."

"Probably all adults?"

"Undoubtedly. What of it?"

"Nothing," growled the pessimist; "except that 174 persons who have hitherto occupied 174 apartments will hereafter occupy eighty-seven, and that ain't helping our business any. You make me tired."

GLASS FOR EUROPE IS HOPE OF EXPERT U. S. GLASS MEN

European glass buyers have been placing orders in the Pittsburgh markets and completing arrangements for representing American glass manufacturers in England, as a direct result of the war. A heavy export business for glass factories in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia is promised as a result of this action.

R. Sanford, representing Weiss & Biheller, Limited of London and C. J. Pratt, representing the National Glass company of London have been in Pittsburgh on trade missions. They point out that these concerns formerly handled goods from Germany and Austria shipments from which countries into England now are stopped.

Canadian glass buyers have also been visiting this district they ordering for immediate delivery.

DONORA HIGH WINS GAME BY ONE TOUCHDOWN

The Donora high school football team came to Charleroi Saturday and took the game from the local high school boys by the score of 6 to 0. The game was slow.

The Donora aggregation made the most of their gains by the use of end runs. They were also able to run a good interference. Luck seemed to break against the local boys.

Hambry made the touchdown in this quarter just before time was called. The end run was worked to advantage.

In the second quarter the ball was worked back and forth on the field. Charleroi played some better than in the first quarter apparently being better able to play a defensive than an offensive game.

In the third quarter Lowstuter made a sensational run for a touchdown, but owing to circumstances it was not counted. Whether or not the ball was in play, what time the whistle was blown and a misplay of the Donora team all figured in the argument. It was decided not to count the touchdown, but to penalize the Donora team.

The final quarter was started with Charleroi in possession of the ball 6 yards from the goal line. A series of line plunges were used. Charleroi had four downs and were within two yards of the goal line when a forward pass was tried. It failed. Donora got the ball and kicked it to the center of the field. Charleroi again secured the ball but time was up before they could again reach the goal line.

PINCHOT GETTING MANY BAD BUMPS

Temporary Resident of State
Cannot Fool Voters.

NO USE FOR CARPET-BAGGER

Pennsylvania Wants a Real Son to Represent Her in the United States Senate, and Not an Inhabitant of Another State—Thousands of Washington Voters Are Incensed at Pinchot Being Imported Here, and Will Vote For Penrose.

Philadelphia, Oct. 27. — Wherever Gifford Pinchot, the Washington candidate for United States senator, goes in quest of votes he is met with the remark: "You don't belong to Pennsylvania, and you came here only to run for office."

A glance into the facts leading up to Pinchot's residence in Pennsylvania indicates that those who make the above comment are correct in their reasoning. Even members of the Washington party are openly disgusted with the daring action of the Bull Moose leaders in trying to foist on the people of Pennsylvania a non-resident, one who has nothing in common with the masses of genuine Pennsylvanians.

Until the last day allowed for withdrawals of candidates, it was believed by many Roosevelt followers that some genuine Pennsylvanian would be substituted on the Washington ticket for Pinchot. These men could not for a moment entertain the idea that the leaders of a political party would have the consummate gall to leave on the ticket one who could not, if elected, survive a test of eligibility.

Now that the blundering politicians have decided that this on-resident should continue as a candidate of the Washington party, thousands of voters intend to resent his candidacy in the strongest possible manner, which is, voting for Senator Penrose, the only real nominee who stands for that protection so essential to the industries of the Keystone State.

Voting Only Two Years.

It is only of a comparatively recent date that it has been claimed that Gifford Pinchot had a voting residence in Pennsylvania. He did not establish his home in Pennsylvania till 1911. Prior to that time his legal residence was New York city and his actual residence, Washington, D. C. His first vote cast in Pennsylvania was in 1912. Pinchot was born in Simsbury, Conn., in 1865. He spent his boyhood in Connecticut and New York city. Pinchot's family had interests in Milford, Pike county, since 1816, but Gifford Pinchot never claimed a residence there till 1911. He visited the town on fishing excursions, but never remained more than a few days. Mr. Pinchot has spent more time in this state since he announced his candidacy for the United States senate than during the entire previous forty-eight years of his life. Aside from an odd fishing trip to Pike county, Pinchot's activities in Pennsylvania consisted in railroad trips through Philadelphia en route from his actual home in Washington to his legal home in New York.

What Milford People Say.

Even now it is impossible to find ten citizens of Milford who will say that Pinchot is a resident of Pike county. "Yes, this is his summer home," they will say, "but Mr. Pinchot lives in Washington. As late as last spring a newspaper man called at the office of Amos R. E. Pinchot at 60 Wall street, New York, and inquired as to the residence of Gifford Pinchot. The answer came: His home is at 1812 Rhode Island avenue, Washington."

The best evidence that Pinchot established his residence in Pennsylvania for office-seeking purposes is shown by what led up to his change from New York city to Milford. Following the Democratic state convention in Allentown in 1910, when the supporters of William H. Berry claimed their candidate was illegally deprived of a nomination, there was talk of nominating a Republican on an independent ticket, instead of Berry. A conference was held in Pittsburgh on June 28, 1910, and a boom launched for Pinchot. But the entire movement fell flat when it was discovered that Mr. Pinchot was a non-resident of the state.

It is significant that in less than a year afterwards Pinchot transferred his residence from New York to Milford. His first vote was cast at the presidential election in 1912, when Roosevelt received in the entire township of Milford twelve votes. So much for the Pinchot influence among his newly-acquired neighbors.

Real Conservator.

Pinchot, the conservator, succeeded in conserving his exchequer when he transferred his affections from New York to Milford. In 1910 he paid a personal tax in New York as a legal resident of that city. In 1911 he made affidavit that he was no longer a resident of New York, and was therefore exempted from the payment of a personal tax. But he paid no personal tax in Pennsylvania in 1911, and was not assessed till 1912 in other words, he benefited financially nearly $1200 by getting out of one state and in another for political purposes.

The defense of Pinchot is that his family was always known as a Pike county family. Let us see where and in regard to this contention. The will of Gifford Pinchot's father, who died at the Pinchot home in Washington on February 6th, 1908, indicates in the very first line that the testator did not consider himself a Pennsylvanian, or his family a Pennsylvania family. The first words read:

"I, J. W. Pinchot, of Washington, in the District of Columbia, do make this my last will and testament. He spoke of Grey Towers, in Milford, claimed to be the home of Gifford Pinchot, as "My country place, in Milford, Pa., known as Grey Towers." The will was admitted to probate in the supreme court of the District of Columbia on March 2, 1908. The petition of Gifford Pinchot, as one of the executors, stated that he was a citizen of the United States, residing at 1812 Rhode Island avenue, Washington, D. C.
